CHECK IS TEMPORARY TWELVE FEET OF SNOW

Reactionists Await but a Chance to Resume

Storm of Unprecedented Severity Is Visited on California.

ATTACKS UPON JEWS

Shooting of Undesirable Refugees Is Declared to Be a Fact, These Kind of Individuals Receiving Short Shift.

St. Petersburg, March 17.—There is already evidence that only a check and not a defeat has been administered to the reactionists, who are conducting an anti-Semitic agitation. Premier Witte, after he had forced a decision from the cabinet to suppress the agitation, knowing the audacity of his opponents, took the precaution privately to ask Jewish leaders to notify him instantly whenever the Jewish inhabitants of any locality are threatened in order to place him in position to insist that measures be taken to protect them. Jewish leaders, however, now charge that the reactionary clique, with the connivance of sympathetic local governor generals, are boldly arranging to block such warnings.

Leaders claim to have proof that orders have been given at special places, specifically citing Vitebsk, West Russia, not to transmit messages to the premier warning him of the imminence of trouble. It is further charged, but the proof is lacking, that this is done with the knowledge of Interior Minister Durnovo.

It has been established that Count Podgorichan, chief of the gendarmes of Gomel, West Russia, who armed a mob there, while ostensibly dismissed by M. Durnovo, in reality was only transferred to a better post at Yalta, Crimea.

In spite of official denial of the shooting of undesirable refugees sent back to Russia from England, private information has been obtained tending to partially support the charge. Many refugees were sent to Baltic ports, where the authorities are showing no mercy to the revolutionists, despite the emperor's instructions to display great leniency. When the refugees disembarked, having fled from Russia without passports, they were regarded suspects and some of them given short shift.

WRIT REFUSED.

Decision of Judge Brooks is Adverse to Express Companies.

Austin, March 17.—Judge V. L. Brooks of the Twenty-sixth district court Saturday handed down his decision in the express injunction cases in which the express companies sought to obtain a writ of injunction to restrain the state from collecting the taxes under the Kennedy tax law. The suit was also to determine the amount of taxes due by express companies under this act. The court refused the writ of injunction, thereby deciding in favor of the state.

NOT EXEMPT.

Being in the Hands of a Receiver Makes No Difference.

Austin, March 17.—A railroad in Texas in the hands of a receiver has been advised that because of the receivership it is not exempt from the provisions of the intangible assets law, and the valuation of its tangible and intangible property will be made, as though it were any other line and out of the hands of a receiver. The state tax commissioner claims he has authority for this ruling.

CONTROL SOLD.

Shipbuilding Firm Disposes of Majority of Its Business.

Seattle, Wash., March 17.—The Post-Intelligencer prints a statement signed by Robert Moran, president of Moran Bros. & Co., holders of the battleship Nebraska, announcing the sale to eastern capitalists associated with Griscom of Philadelphia of the control of their company. The consideration, while not stated, is known to be between $2,500,000 and $3,500,000. The Moran Bros. shipbuilding plant was established in 1882.

FREIGHTS COLLIDE.

Fireman Giles Killed and Fireman Winchester Loses Arm.

Shreveport, March 17.—At Lone Springs early Saturday morning two freight trains came together head-on. Fireman Giles was killed and Fireman Winchester had an arm mashed off. The accident is alleged to have been due to a misunderstanding of orders. Lone Springs is east of this city, on the Louisiana and Arkansas railway.

DIES DINING.

Prominent Houston Business Man Expires Suddenly at Table.

Houston, March 17.—Joe Levy, a member of the dry goods firm of Levy Bros., died suddenly at noon Saturday. He had just seated himself at the dinner table when he expired.

TERRIFIC RAIN ALSO.

Greatest Fall of the Fleecy Takes Place at High Altitude and a Deluge Threatened, Causing Uneasiness.

Fresno, Cal., March 17.—For over sixty hours a storm of unprecedented severity raged in the region between the San Joaquin and Kings river. The fall of snow in the mountains exceeds all records.

Telephone advices from Pine Ridge, which is at the 5,000 feet altitude, says over twelve feet of snow has fallen, and at the summit the depth is said to be over twenty-two feet. The residents of the Garfield vineyards district worked all night in a blinding rain, building levees, but their work went for nothing, as a huge wave of water swept through that district. Rancher creek, flowing south of Fresno into the canals of the Fresno Irrigation Canal company, were beyond control, and lay waste vineyards. Miles of land are covered with five feet of water.

After a night of terror, the 600 people of Laton, on Kings river, moved in a body onto the grade of the Santa Fe railway. The levees about the town, which are bare six feet high, were beginning to overflow, and advices from the mountains were to the effect that still greater floods were coming.

Numerous bridges were washed out in the Mormon colonies. Both the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific report numerous washouts and train service demoralized.

RELEASED ON BAIL.

It Is Alleged Doctor Borrowed Money From Mrs. Mangum.

Nashville, March 17.—By agreement of counsel Dr. J. Herman Feist, charged with the murder of Mrs. Rosa Mangum, was admitted to bail in $10,000. An enormous crowd surged in the magistrate's court room and out into the street during the proceedings and excitement ran high, when J. E. Mason, the aged father of the dead woman, made an attempt to get at the prisoner. The agitated old man was removed from the room by an officer and out into the street. A powerful looking man made a move as if to come to Mason's assistance. The officer drew his revolver and the demonstration ceased.

It is claimed by the detectives that on the night of Mrs. Mangum's disappearance Dr. Feist had his horse and buggy out until a late hour and that the horse showed evidence of a trying trip upon being returned to the livery stable, where he was kept. The detectives allege that in the buggy they found two feathers from a lady's hat and that they have been identified as belonging to the hat Mrs. Mangum wore the last time she was seen alive.

Mrs. Mangum was the wife of a barber here. The couple had had domestic troubles and last December Mrs. Mangum said she would visit relatives in St. Louis. She possessed considerable money in her own name and was a beautiful woman. No one has been found up to this time who actually saw Mrs. Mangum leave Nashville. Her trunk, which was checked to St. Louis, was found in the baggage room of a railroad in Chicago and detectives from that city were at once enlisted to aid the men from St. Louis and the local police.

Mr. Mangum had been searching for his wife ever since her relatives reported from St. Louis that she had not arrived there, and had about given up when her body was found floating in the Mississippi near Cairo. Her clothes were not disturbed, and some money and jewelry were still on her body.

Her body was found in the Ohio river near Cairo, Ill., six weeks ago.

ACADEMY BURNS.

One of the Best Known Southern Institutions Destroyed.

Shreveport, March 17.—St. Vincent's academy, established thirty years ago, and one of the most widely known Roman Catholic institutions in the south, was destroyed by fire Friday afternoon. Loss is $60,000; insurance, $12,500. The fire originated from a defective flue at the time that the teachers and pupils were at lunch. A panic resulted, but all escaped without injury.

Peters Expires.

Oklahoma City, March 17.—James Peters, the railroad man who was shot accidentally by Buck Garrett, chief of police of Ardmore, died Friday, and the body was shipped to Newton, Kan., for burial.

FOSTER'S WEATHER BULLETIN.

(Copyrighted 1906, by W. T. Foster.)

NOTE.—My "Crop Weather" forecasts for 1906 are now complete, are of unusual interest, are the best have ever made and a sample of them will be mailed to anyone on receipt of a two-cent stamp. Address W. T. FOSTER, Washington, D. C., Box XI.

Washington, D. C., March 17.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent 13 to 17, warm wave 12 to 16, cool wave 15 to 19. Next disturbance will reach the Pacific coast about 20, cross west of Rockies by close of 21, great central valleys 22 to 24, eastern states 25. Warm wave will cross west of Rockies about 20, great central valleys 22, eastern states 24. Cool wave will cross west of Rockies about 23, great central valleys 25, eastern states 27.

This disturbance will be one of the most severe of the month. It will come at the close of a long period of unusually high temperatures and dry weather and will be followed by cold wet weather that will carry the frost line far southward. Precipitation will largely increase over that of the two preceding weeks.

At close of March 23 indications will seem to assure an early opening of Spring crop weather, but a setback will come and the legendary ast of March winter that kills the old cow will blast the hopes of an early spring.

Better not be in a hurry to plant seeds of tender vegetation nor to put house plants outdoors, for the cold snap following this disturbance will throw a cold wet blanket over the calculations of the early gardener and farmer along the 38th parallel of latitude.

About and immediately following March 17 a cool period will come in but it will not be severe, nor of long duration and will not bring much precipitation. The warm wave following will bring high temperatures.

The disturbance described in this bulletin will be the equinoctial storm which orthodox scientists persistently misunderstand and misrepresent. These equinoctial disturbances come within a week before or after March 21, their dates being determined by other causes than the earth's equinox. When these other causes are absent the equinoctial storms are moderate.

Orthodox scientists cannot get it through their non receptive craniums that all the spheres of the Solar system have to do with our weather changes. Their investigations of planetary meteorology have been confined to Jupiter and our moon and therefore they have failed to find the key to the weather problem.

Any investigation of this most difficult question must fail that does not consider the sun, moon, earth and seven other major planets. It is like a vault locked by many keys, all of which must be present before the vault can be unlocked.

SOCIAL and Club Matters

NOTES FROM THE MUTUAL IMPROVEMENT CLUB.

"We make our surroundings and they in turn influence us." Then how true it is that when ideal surroundings are made for us that our idea of happiness is two-fold.

One of the most unique and artistically planned affairs of the season was the courtesy of Mrs. M. W. Sims, Wednesday afternoon, March 14, when she transferred the meeting of the Mutual Improvement Club from its rooms in Carnegie Library to her hospitable home. The honoree of the occasion, Mrs. John Crawford Anderson of Montgomery, Ala., is a guest in the Sims home, and was indeed a most charming inspiration for this brilliant little gathering. One other guest, Rev. J. Wendel Davis, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, was added to the club's roster for the afternoon.

The entire lower floor of the Sims home was fragrant with the perfume of truly Southern flowers. How we love to call on our gardens and orchards boughs for a contribution as harbingers of spring; and with what glorious results as the blossoms of the peach, apple and pear blend in a wreath of beauty with the long and graceful spray of the dewberry, whose dainty flowers gleam with unusual purity against the rich, green foliage. Upon such a scene we entered and passed into the library. Here upon the library table a large crystal bowl held masses of yellow yucca, "whose fragrance is like no other," while here and there slender vases holding "fair young daffodils stately and tall," gave the finished touch to the pretty scene. Sitting amid such surroundings, trying to "drink in" the perfect setting, there passed through my mind a vision of the woods of Arcady.

Instead of the usual quotation given by the members at the call of the roll, each one responded with an incident from the play of "Hamlet," which has just been concluded. Mrs. Sims realizes that a genuine surprise gives an added zest of pleasure to a gathering, and so it proved on this occasion when Mr. Davis gave us a most beautiful paper on the character, "Hamlet." His exposition was clear and graceful, and unraveled for us many knotty problems over which we had wrestled during the year's study of the play. "Table Talk," a different subject having been assigned each one, was the next number on the program, and when the last word had been spoken we realized that a rosary had been formed, the counting of whose beads would give us pleasure in the days to come. Now the pulsations of the heart would not be calmed for we were to take part in a literary contest, and were asked to stand in semi-circle and recite "Hamlet's Soliloquy," one lady to recite until Mrs. Sims should designate, by pointing the finger to someone else to commence just where the previous one had left off. Did we know it? Why, of course, twenty women knew it perfectly, but you know about the caprices of memory. Very soon the circle was broken, and in a few minutes Mrs. Nagle was left alone and was rewarded with a beautiful picture of the bard of Avon, presented by Mrs. McInnis in a speech truly poetic in thought and wording. Then Mrs. Haswell stepped forward and in a poem sparkling with the champagne of life and love presented to Mrs. Anderson, the charming honoree, a beautifully bound copy of J. M. Lewis' poems, as a souvenir of the afternoon. Mrs. Sims evidently believes that all human nature is apt to sour unless it has some active force to preserve its sweetness, so a leaflet and pencil were passed and we were told to write a verse, taking any character of Hamlet as a basis—time limit two minutes. 'Tis remarkable in what a short time a poem may be written. A collation so dainty and exquisitely beautiful that the memory seems like a dream, was served—individual trays covered with snowy napery holding a plate with artistically arranged viands consisting of a tiny sandwich, fromage a la cream, and the dearest little confection, in form and color a perfect June apple, with real apple blossoms which held the same sentiment for this plate as does the real orange blossoms on the veil of a June bride. Passing into the dining room well-lit over a dainty little brummel and cup of fragrant coffee, then reluctantly bade our clever hostess and her charming guest "good-bye" with an ideal memory marked on the dial plate of time.

M. I. C. Reporter.

One of the most notable social events of the week was a "Twelfth Night" party given Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Boatwright, complimentary to Miss Norma Calhoun of Houston. Invitations in Old English were sent out to thirty-five persons who came in domino masks. The amusements were in keeping with the spirit of the merry occasion and right royally were the guests entertained. In a contest at guessing the identity of the maskers, Mr. J. R. Astin was awarded the consolation prize, a pair of spectacles, he being the least suc-

The Embroidery Club met with Mrs. Frel Pryor on Tuesday at the handsome home of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Oliver. Mrs. Pryor is famed for always providing something novel in connection with her entertainments and this one proved no exception to the rule. When all the guests had assembled it was found that "Hearts" was the selected game. Six small blocks of wood hexagon shaped and containing the letters H-E-A-R-T-S on the six sides, were found on each of the tables and seated around these boards sat four players. Each one threw the block and as each letter fell it counted so much to that person's score. If one was so lucky as to throw so the blocks would spell "Hearts" they were given an extra punch on their red heart score card, tied with a red ribbon. After eight games several had to cut for the prize. Miss Jennie Howell received a pretty "dog collar," while Miss Norma Calhoun was awarded a pretty pink satchel for having thrown the most hearts. The booty was given Mrs. R. M. Gordon, a beautiful bunch of violets tied with a green ribbon, and pendant from it smaller bunches. Bonbons were placed on each table. Gelatine, whipped cream and cake was served. Mrs. Pryor was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Oliver.

Miss Norma Calhoun of Houston, who is so much beloved by Bryan friends, is visiting in the city and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Webb. On Wednesday evening the Miss Lynn Crudginton was the charming hostess to the Bachelor Girls' Club on Wednesday at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Winters. In this home is always found sunshine, good cheer, and pleasure for everyone. Violets and potted plants were the only decorations used. The girls, as usual, brought their needle work and spent several hours congenially, during which time the thoughtful hostess passed bonbons. Mrs. Winters and Miss Edna Crudginton assisted the hostess in serving delicious peach cream and wafers. Those besides the club members present were Misses Norma Calhoun, Bertha Roberts and Gussie Buchanan.

The marriage of Mr. Ralph Risser, a prominent and popular young merchant of Ballinger, formerly of Calvert, to Miss Irene Keeling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Taney Boyle, and one of the lovely and most lovable of the Bryan young ladies, was formally announced some time ago, and will take place at the First Methodist church in Bryan at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening, April 18. Much social interest centers in this wedding here and elsewhere in the state. Mr. Risser has been spending several days in the city the past week.

The feast of St. Patrick was appropriately celebrated at Villa Maria Academy Friday evening in special honor of the efficient, faithful and beloved directress. A program of the recitations and music was given, the old Irish melodies being especially appreciated by the honoree, and while they recalled they days of her youth and her native land, she has no regrets for having exchanged the Shamrock for the Golden Rod. At the conclusion of the exercises a silver salver of violets, with a substantial offering of gold from the pupils, was presented to the directress.

Miss Marie B. Adams, Bryan's talented young concert singer, is filling a limited number of engagements under ladies' club auspices in East Texas towns, and meeting with the appreciation and hearty success she so richly deserves on account of her artistic ability and charming personality. She sang at Jacksonville March 9 under the auspices of the Shakespeare Club; also at Groveton on March 14. Her next appearance will be at Alto. She is visiting relatives at Jacksonville and filling engagements from that point.

Mrs. W. S. Howell, recording secretary of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, returned yesterday after attending a meeting of the executive board at Waco. She reports a very pleasant and profitable meeting, the visitors being the recipients of many courtesies at the hands of the Waco ladies. Among the matters discussed was the biennial meeting of the general federation at St. Paul in May. Mrs. Edward Rotan entertained the ladies at luncheon Friday.

The marriage of Capt. Gus C. Street of Houston, a member of the '04 A. and M. class, and Miss Nellie Smith of this city is announced to take place April 26. Miss Nellie is one of Bryan's most charming and popular girls, and Captain Street a successful young Houston business man, well known and much esteemed here.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 16.—The Barnegat life saving station reported the steamer Carthagea ashore between Island Beach and Toms River. Life savers who went to the assistance of the vessel reported the crew refused to leave her, believing she would be floated on the next high tide. The sea was smooth. She hails from Duluth, Minn. The steamer signaled for a tug to take off her passengers. She is lying in easy position and is believed to be only slightly damaged.

KEEPS UP WITH TIMES.

E. J. Jenkins Has a New Remedy for Stomach Troubles that He Guarantees Will Cure.

In keeping with his custom of always ordering a supply of new remedies as soon as their value has been established, E. J. Jenkins has ordered a supply of Mi-o-na, a remedy for stomach troubles that absolutely cures and restores lost functions of the digestive organs.

Until recently it was thought that pepsin was valuable in the treatment of stomach troubles, but it is now known that while pepsin aids in digesting meats, it has no effect upon starchy foods, such as potatoes, rice, bread, corn meal, etc. As the majority of stomach troubles comes from indigestion of starchy foods, this makes pepsin absolutely useless in most cases.

On the other hand, Mi-o-na contains no pepsin, acts directly upon the gastric glands, restores the lost functions of the digestive organs, revives flagging nutrition, aids in assimilation of food and, in fact, so strengthens the whole digestive system that you can eat anything at any time without fear of indigestion.

Weakness, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, backaches, furred tongue, pain and distress after eating, and debility are the result of a weak and faulty digestion. Use Mi-o-na and all these symptoms will be overcome, and you will have perfect health.

Get a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na tablets today from E. J. Jenkins and he will guarantee to refund the money if Mi-o-na does not cure.

cessful. In forming animals from wax a china pig fell to the lot of Mr. Sam Hunter, who evidently has ability for sculpture. The couples were formed for the evening in two novel ways. The first was by means of riddles and corresponding answers in walnut shells suspended by ribbons from the electroliters. The second was by the names of associated Shakespearean characters, men and women, pinned on the backs of the ladies and gentlemen. In a cake cutting contest Mr. A. A. Farley and Miss Emily Thomas won the honors and were crowned king and queen and seated on a throne, the homage of the company being evidenced by drinking punch to their health amid much merriment. Fruit cake, angel food and cream were the refreshments served. Mr. and Mrs. Boatwright were assisted in entertaining by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Davis.

doors of this elegant home were thrown open to nine couples in honor of Miss Calhoun, hand the and of welcome extended to all. This was an informal affair, only the neighborhood girls being present, and nine young men from College. A phantom party was very much enjoyed. After the masks were removed the guests were seated on the floor, the electric lights turned out and a few candles lighted. Each guest then tried to relate the most weird ghost story. The hospitality of the occasion was ideal, and so encompassed by these favorable conditions everybody was in a frame of mind to participate in the pleasures provided. Gelatine, whipped cream and many varieties of cut cake were served. Many sincere thanks were offered the hostess and host at leave taking.

On Monday night the pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Batte was aglow with lights, the affair being a very informal neighborhood party in honor of Miss Norma Calhoun of Houston, the young lady of this home, Miss Nellie Batte, acting as hostess with the assistance of her mother, Mrs. Batte. After the guests were welcomed they were given the task of writing blind telegrams, which proved quite enjoyable. There was present twenty-four guests bringing into requisition six tables. Several games of forty-two were thoroughly enjoyed. A delicious salad course was served, which was, like every moment spent under this hospitable roof, most heartily enjoyed. Those present were Misses Cavitt, Parks, Calhoun, McInnis, Nonie Adams, Thomas, Howell, Emily Thomas, Peale, Suber, Batte; Messrs. Cox, Kindley, Dunlap, Geo. Adams, Horace Carritt, Hunter, Farley, Marsteller, Campbell, Bradley, Haskell.

THE MORNING EAGLE

Entered at the Postoffice as second class mail matter.

BY CARNES & WALLACE.

BRYAN, TEXAS, MARCH 18, 1906

Nearly all the towns in this section have joined the cities of the state in the skating rink craze. The absence of the "rink limp" from our streets shows that Bryan hasn't caught on yet.

Hon. T. S. Henderson of Cameron advised friends in this city yesterday by telephone that he is in the race for Congress from the sixth district, to succeed Hon. Scott Field. Mr. Henderson is recognized as one of the able and influential men of the district.

Two young physicians of Madison county, Dr. Orlando Patton of Midway and Dr. A. H. Speer of Madisonville, have been appointed special officers of the Marine hospital service to investigate sanitary conditions in Central America and the Isthmus of Panama. The Meteor says Madison county feels chesty in view of the fact, only two of these places being allotted to Texas. The young men were taking post graduate work in New Orleans when the appointment was made.

Joe Wren, Willow Hole correspondent of the Madisonville Meteor, reports that the Trinity and Brazos Valley railroad company has purchased the townsite "Zulch" from Mr. W. L. Zulch, and on Tuesday Mr. Phillips, the resident engineer at Rogers Prairie, was there and surveyed off the lots, which will soon be placed on the market. There are about 100 acres in the townsite. The T. & B. V. has offered to give the depot grounds to the H. & T. C. road at this place, and have surveyed out the same. It has not yet been learned whether the latter road will accept the donation.

NOTICE.

The Eagle is requested by the Alexander community to mention the working of the cemetery at that place on March 23. It is important that all those interested be present on that day or send a hard. The community desires to keep the cemetery in good condition. There are a number of graves here that have been neglected for want of identification and is important that all interested parties be on hand and help look after the work. d86 w23

LINK LINE MAY YET BE BUILT.

Late reports in the daily press are to the effect that the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad will very probably build the proposed connection from Granger to Trinity, and if so the line will pass directly through Madison county.

The proposed extension will be over the old Link Line survey, the rights of which were acquired by the Katy, and will enter the county in the northwestern part, passing through Madisonville and Midway.

The county will need this road, and all are hoping that it will be built.—Madisonville Meteor.

The first State bank of Marquez has been organized with a capital of $10,000. Seventy-one state banks and trust companies have been organized under the new law.

BLEACHERS AND GROUND.

By the first game here on the campus the management of the baseball team say they will have the bleachers ready for use. Some of the lumber has been brought on the ground already and the construction work will commence immediately. The seating capacity is calculated at 600 and the contract has been let to Mr. G. S. Parker of Bryan. This is to be a movable bleacher of six parts. So when the first game is pulled off here March the 29th with the University of Kansas, we may expect seats if nothing happens. The work on the diamond has begun and now the ground is in very fair condition. With some rolling and practice it will be in good shape by the time it is needed.

The students have been very liberal in their contributions to the team and bleachers. The surplus trust fund has been subscribed with a willingness that shows the proper spirit toward the team. With this loyalty of the cadets and the fine work being done we can safely predict a winning nine this season.—The Battalion.

SPRING WEAR SALE.

Don't fail to visit the Spring wear sale given by the Baptist ladies at the city hall Saturday. Doors open at 2 o'clock. 86

BUSTER BROWN.

An advance notice says: There is abundant promise of hearty and wholesome amusement at the Opera house Tuesday, March 20, when Melville B. Raymond's musical comedy creation, "Buster Brown" will be presented. Everyone knows and likes "Buster," as Richard F. Outcault has pictured him in the funny pages. He is a boy whose sense of humor and mischief appeal to all, and surrounded with a large and brilliant company including a chorus, ballet and a group of 18-carat "American Beauties," elaborately costumed by Wanamaker, he should prove most attractive.

Buster will be enacted by a clever little comedian and his funny dog, Tige, by a well known animal impersonator. The setting is spectacular and forty-four people are engaged in the performance.

HOME MERCHANTS PROTEST

Against the Unfair Competition of the Out-of-Town Houses.

THEY ISSUE AN ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE

of Bryan, Setting Forth the Conditions and Results which must Follow, Asking that the Matter be Given Serious Attention.

We regret exceedingly that the necessity has arisen, making it necessary for us to issue this address to the good people of Bryan. However it is a condition and not a theory that confronts us, and we cannot, in justice to ourselves and our business, remain silent longer. Such inroads have been made upon the legitimate dry goods business of Bryan by outside concerns, that we are compelled to bring it to the attention of our fellow citizens in the hope of impressing upon them the doctrine of reciprocity and convincing them of the necessity of patronizing home industry. To this end we submit for your earnest and serious consideration the following propositions:

We are citizens of Bryan and have our homes here.

We have our money invested in stocks of goods with which to conduct a legitimate business, and meet the demands of the people of Bryan and the surrounding territory. We must have the goods when they call for them, in season and out, and to do this requires the investment of a great deal of money, and it is hardly fair that we should be expected to do this, and then have for competitors firms who do not live here and who have not one dollar invested in the town. A town is judged by the standard of the stocks of merchandise carried by its merchants, and if we are forced through unfair competition to let our stocks run down, the entire city will suffer in proportion. Real estate as well as everything else.

We employ other citizens of the town who spend their money here and help to pay the taxes.

We pay heavy taxes to defray the running expenses of the city. We pay a large school tax to educate the children of Bryan. We contribute liberally to the support of all the other schools of the city, private and denominational.

We have helped, and are still helping to build the splendid churches of Bryan and contribute of our means to the support of all their auxiliary branches.

We have aided in securing valuable enterprises for Bryan, and are still ready at all times to do our full duty in securing new enterprises and industries that will contribute to the upbuilding of Bryan.

We would also respectfully direct your attention to the fact that 75 per cent of the city taxes come from the merchants and property owners on Main street.

We are mutually dependent upon each other, and we give our patronage to the merchants of Bryan in other lines of business. In unity there is strength, and unless we stand by each other, the entire commercial fabric must fall to pieces. Suppose there were agents in Bryan for outside firms representing all lines of business: groceries, hardware, drugs, furniture, insurance, etc., and everybody sent away for what they needed, what would be the consequences? It requires no argument to prove to you that Bryan would go down. It could not survive. There would be nothing to keep it up. Let us stand by each other in all things, to the end that our fair little city may continue to forge to the front until it shall be recognized as the business, religious and educational center of all central Texas.

There is no desire or intention on the part of any merchant of Bryan to do or say anything against anyone representing out of town houses. What we have to say is a plain business proposition and entirely impersonal.

But we do think if these out of town houses want to do business in Bryan, they should come here with their stocks of goods, pay their occupation tax, pay school tax and contribute their part in every way to keep up the town. Let them come here and share alike in all the expenses of all public enterprises, contribute to local charities, to good roads and to everything that maintains and builds up the town and county. If they will comply with all these conditions, and then you find they carry better stocks and sell goods for less money than your home merchants, we are willing to take the consequences without protest.

Vultures and a Dead Tiger.
The vulture is seen at its best when a dead tiger, brought into camp to be skinned, is exposed in the open. Overhead is a cloudless sky, and not a bird to be seen in that great void by the human eye. The tiger's body is thrown from the pad to the ground, and before the skin has been removed there above one and always near the earth are the vultures circling, poising like things of air, now a dozen of them, in a few minutes a score or two and then a hundred strong. Then, when the fayed carcass of the tiger is left by those who skinned it, the vultures descend. Down they come like feathered thunder out of the sky, and from east and west and north and south, the very embodiment of power while they whirl aloft and in their quick descent to earth, and now, as they waddle around that carrion beast, misshapen ghouls, whose only apparent strength is that of the ravening jaws which tear and gorge the tiger's flesh, until within the hour naught of that splendid brute remains but a clean picked skeleton.—Sir Edward Braden's "Thirty Years of Shikar."

A Rank Pessimist.
A Lady Bountiful living in a suburban village met an old man on the road one day and asked after his family, his health, etc. The old man gave a rather gloomy account of things. He had to work all day and every day, and he was growing old and felt the cold and was always tired. He wished he could rest a bit after his long life of labor. Lady Bountiful reminded him gently that every one had his share of work to do in this world, and that it was all only a preparation of the world to come, where there will be no tears or labor.

The old man shook his head and smiled cynically.
"That may be for the likes of you," he said. "But there'll be work for the likes of me. It will be the same thing there: 'John, clean the sun.' 'John, hang out the moon.' 'John, light the stars.' 'John, stop the wind.' They will find something for me to do, ma'am—you'll see."

A Wonderful Ride.
The most wonderful straightaway ride ever made by man was the gallop of Francis Xavier Aubrey, a Canadian Canadian voyageur and a famous pony express rider, from Santa Fe, N. M., to Independence, Mo., in 1853—800 miles in five days and thirteen hours. In 1852 he had covered the same distance in a little over eight days, and his record was on the wagon of $1,000 that he "could do it in an even eight." In the whole distance he did not stop to rest, and he changed horses only with every 100 or 200 miles. He was a stocky French Canadian, light hearted, genial, adventurous and absolutely fearless. For some time he was an overland freighter, and he also made the enormously difficult and dangerous drive of a flock of sheep from New Mexico to California across the deserts of the Colorado. He was killed in Santa Fe.—McClure's Magazine.

Early Autograph Hunters.
A certain Atossa in early Roman days seems to have been the mother of autograph collectors. Cicero had a collection, which must have been a fine one, for he speaks of it with particular pride. The fever, even in those far back days, was contagious. Pliny speaks of Pompeius Secundus, at whose house he had seen autographs of Cicero, Augustus, Virgil and the Gracchi, and his own collection was valued at $15,000 of our money. Then came the influx of barbarians, and we do not again meet with the collector until the beginning of the sixteenth century, when he reappears in the person of a Bohemian squire, who kept a book to record his exploits in the chase and enriched it with the signatures of his great hunter friends.

When Death Cools His Sting.
There is a curious superstition in Jamaica that if a death occurs in the house all the water in it is poisoned at once and must be thrown away, the reason given being that "death" cools his "sting" after destroying life in the first water he finds, and as no one can tell—death being invisible—what jar he may choose it is safest to throw it all away. Careful people to save trouble even carry all water out of the house immediately before a death is expected.

Already Well Made.
"Miss Deepley does make some of the most inapt quotations," remarked Bragg.
"Yes?" queried Newitt. "What, for instance?"
"Well, last night I remarked that I always avoided political discussion because I didn't want to make a fool of myself, and she said, 'One cannot paint the lily or gild refined gold.'—Philadelphia Press.

She Paid on the Investment.
"Here," complained the aggrieved father, "I have spent nearly $15,000 on that girl's education, and now she goes and marries a $2,500 a year clerk."
"Well," said the friend of the family, "isn't that all of 15 per cent on your investment? What more do you want?"

Carelessness.
The Young Doctor—Just think, six of my patients recovered this week. The Old Doctor—It's your own fault, my boy. You spend too much time at the club.

Means of Success.
Stern Father—He who sows the wind reaps the whirlwind. Prodigal Son—Well, he raises the wind anyway.

The way of the world is to praise dead saints and persecute living ones.—Howe.

A telegram was forwarded Congressman Russell to the effect that the executive committee indorses the thirty-six hour bill now before congress, and urges its passage.

She Didn't Put It Out.

An old lady of his flock once called upon Dr. Gill with a grievance. The doctor's neckbands were too long for her ideas of ministerial humility, and after a long harangue on the sin of pride she intimated that she had brought a pair of scissors with her and would be pleased if her dear pastor would permit her to cut them down to her notions of propriety.

The doctor not only listened patiently, but handed over the offending white bands to be operated upon. When she had cut them to her satisfaction and returned the bibs it was the doctor's turn.

"Now," said he, "you must do me a good turn also."

"Yes, that I will, doctor. What can it be?"

"Well, you have something about you which is a deal too long and which causes me no end of trouble, and I should like to see it shorter."

"Indeed, dear sir, I will not hesitate. What is it? Here are the scissors; use them as you please."

"Come, then," said the sturdy divine, "good sister, put out your tongue."—London Mail.

Out of the Barrel.

A Boston steamship man was a witness of this incident: A liner was unloading at one of the Charlestown docks. A cook's helper, a small and very black negro, was leaning over the rail. A large hoghead of molasses came creaking up on the end of the chain and swung unsteadily to and fro. Finally, with a smash, it struck the rail and broke into bits, molasses flying everywhere. There was a wild cry, and from the wreckage came the negro soaked from head to foot and entirely unrecognizable. He danced madly about and shouted like nothing human. A little Irishman, in overalls, regarded the apparition for a moment with mouth open awe, and, a light breaking on him, he shouted: "Moike! Fer the love er hivin! Moike! Will yez see what came out of the barrel uv molasses!" It took the combined efforts of the superintendent and his assistants to convince Pat that he hadn't discovered a new stowaway method.

The Hindoo Strong Man.

The Hindoos tell wonderful stories of the feats of Bhima, who was their strong man. Among the wonders credited to Bhima are the following: Pursued by a tiger, his mother when nursing Bhima let him drop. The force of the impact shattered in a thousand places the rock on which he had fallen, but the boy was none the worse. When he quarreled with other boys he gathered them up, ten or fifteen at a time, and plumped them into the nearest pond. His cousins hid themselves in a tall banyan to jeer at him, but he tore it from the ground without effort. He snapped his bonds like Samson, and a hungry cobra's fangs could not penetrate his skin. His triumph, however, was the defeat of Bakasura, who "consumed a cart load of food at a sitting and used palmyra trees for toothbrushes."

New York, March 17.—The police are trying to find the author of a letter received recently by John Bozzuffi, father of Antonio Bozzuffi, who was kidnapped by Italians and held forty-eight hours for a ransom. The letter, bearing skull and crossbones, says:

"Do not think that your son has escaped us; we simply did not want to spill innocent blood. We want now the miserable sum of $5,000; otherwise great harm will fall upon your head."

The letter was written in Italian and unsigned. The kidnapping of young Bozzuffi is believed to have been followed by the murder of one of his captors.

The body of an Italian found in a canal near Newark, N. J., was identified by the boy as that of one of the men who held him a prisoner.

HEWITT'S SAD STORY.

All but Two Members of His Family Lost Their Lives.

Pueblo, Colo., March 17.—One of the pathetic tragedies resulting from the coming together of two Denver and Rio Grande trains, was the wiping out of all but two of the family of Taylor Hewitt of Lebo, Kan. Father, mother, daughter, grandchild and the wives of the sons are missing. The two sons, E. A. and W. L. Hewitt, are among the injured in the hospital here. E. A. Hewitt said:

"Our party consisted of my father, Taylor Hewitt, my mother, Lillian Hewitt, my sister, Pearl, aged fifteen; my brother, W. L. Hewitt; my sister-in-law, Winona; my wife, Catherine; our four-months-old baby, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Conley and Fred Jones. We were going to Joseph, Ore. A dream that I had several months ago in which our family were all killed kept coming into my mind. I saw just as plainly as I later saw the real wreck, everything that took place after the collision. I saw people trying to drag themselves out of the cars, saw strong men plead to be killed. I saw my own wife and baby consumed by fire before my eyes, and I struggled vainly to rescue them. I awakened in terror. I went forward to my party. My wife was leaping soundly. Our baby was half asleep. Catherine awakened and said 'Goodnight, sweetheart.' I leaned over and kissed her and she smiled."

"I sat down again and closed my eyes, but in a few minutes was aroused by a crash. When I tried to move I found my leg was broken. I heard my wife calling, but could not go to her. Some one dragged me out. I screamed for some one to rescue my wife and baby, but nobody paid any attention."

"I saw Fred Jones hanging out of the window of the burning car pleading for some one to kill him. The flames shot up about him and he fell forward dead."

Hewitt and his brother will return to their home in Kansas and bury their dead.

In the front end of the ruins of a smoker were found the charred hands of a man, crossed and held together by a pair of handcuffs. It is all that is left to show that the convict who was being taken to prison was burned in the wreck. Near the ghastly hands were found two revolvers, the property of Deputy Sheriff E. E. Baird of Denver, who was also killed. His prisoner was an actor known as Archibald Whitney, who had been sentenced to the penitentiary on a charge of forgery. In the bones of his fingers was held with the grasp of death, the metal piece from the window casing. The prisoner had attempted to climb out of the burning car and might have escaped a horrible death but for the handcuffs.

Patrick Murphy, a well known Florence oil man, was taken from the wreck unconscious, and was reported to be dead, but an hour later he revived.

NUMBER OF DEAD.

Conservative Estimate Friday at Midnight Was Thirty-five.

Pueblo, Colo., March 17.—Conservative estimate on loss of life by collision on Denver and Rio Grande railway of two passenger trains, is thirty-five.

Rio Grande officials insist that the exact number of persons on the two trains can not be ascertained; that it is impossible.

SIXTEEN CHARRED CORPSES.

Only One Body Recovered That Was Not Disfigured Some Way.

Pueblo, Colo., March 17.—While the exact number of lives lost in the Adobe wreck near Florence on the Denver and Rio Grande railroad never will be known it will undoubtedly take rank among the great disasters in the history of railroading. Conservative estimates on loss of life placed Saturday the number of dead at thirty-six. Sixteen charred, unrecognizable bodies were taken to the Pueblo morgue. Five other persons were known to be dead and possibly a score of bodies were burned to ashes. There was not a single entire body recovered from the wreckage, with the exception of one engineer who, although mangled, had not been reached by the flames.

"I WAS ASLEEP."

Lively Alleged to Have Worked Several Days Without Sleep.
